

The maximum flatness deviation allowed on the surface labeled "I" is 0.4, so the flatness tolerance labeled "D" is not standard-compliant, it should be less than the size tolerance 0.4 (± 0.2), but the answer on the textbook say it is standard-compliant, Why? Anything I missed?