

What control ensures each blade is the same, within some tolerance, relative to datum feature [A]?

An acceptable variation is shown.

